Mumbai, 21-November Taking a dig in China, Defense Minister Rajnath Singh on Sunday said that "some irresponsible nations" with their narrow party interests and hegemonic tendencies are coming up with wrong definitions of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS) It is cause for concern that UNCLOS is being repeatedly weakened by the arbitrary interpretation of its definition by some nations, said Singh, after ordering the destroyer of the Indian Navy destroyer Visakhapatnam here. As a responsible maritime interested party, India supports principle. On the basis of consensus and a peaceful, open and stable maritime order based on rules, Singh said. © Free trade and universal values where the interests of all interested parties are protected, he said. "Some irresponsible nations, with their narrow party interests and hegemonic tendencies, com e with wrong definitions of international laws" Singh said without naming China. China has been militarizing islands in the South China Sea, a movement that has been through global crimes. China has claims of overlapping countries in the East and South-East Asia. In 2016, an international court rejected China's argument that this country of historical rights over most of the South Sea of China - a region known to be rich in hydrocarbons and also to welcome an important Maritime Communication Track. The followingorder, China said that the prÃ©mio â© "null and without binding force" and that it does not accept or recognize it. Singh said that, being an important force in the region, the role of the Indian Navy takes on a more crucial role for the security of the region. He said countries around the world are working to make their military power strong and modern due to global security reasons, border disputes and importance to maintain the martim omen. There is a growing demand for military equipment. Reports suggest that the cost of security worldwide should reach 2.1 trillion dollars. Within 5-10 years, this is expected to multiply, Singh noted. "We have an opportunity to utilize all of our capacity, take advantage of the political, and make the country a center in the indigenous naval construction," Singh said. The invisible guided misdemeanor Destroyer Visakhapatnam, built in Nondia, packed with a series of mis©esand anti-submarine rockets, was commissioned in the pre-emption of top naval commanders. Visakhapatnam is equipped with lethal weapons and sensors, including supersonic surface-to©surface and air surface surfaces, medium©weapons and short©range weapons, anti-submarine rockets and advanced facts of electronic warfare and communication, officials said. Admiral Karambir Singh, Chief of The Naval General Staff, said the ship © a shining example of self-confidence.
