As As some may have known, I ended up working on a summary for volume 21 since December due to popular demand on Twitter. Today, that summary from my Twitter account. For this version, I removed my random reactions (at least I hope I didn't miss anything) from the summary tweets, made a few corrections here and there, and organised the entire text into paragraphs. If you wish to read the original Tweet thread, you can find it here. Notice: This is a summary, not a proper translation. Even if I ended up making it more like a full-blown retelling than an actual summary. PrologueTranslated by Defan here. Chapter 1Translated by Defan here. Chapter 1Translated by Defan here. Chapter translated by Defan here. A chunk of land with Kirito and Asuna's log house breaks off Aincrad and starts falling towards the ground. At this point, Kirito recalls the Ordinal Scale incident: that Prof. Shigemura has recovered the original Aincrad on the old SAO server in Argus's basement and that Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now. But since the Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now. But since the Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now. But since the Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now. But since the Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now. But since the Aincrad basically served as Yuuna's grave now a when the chunk of land it's on crashes to the ground, Asuna proposes to use their wings to change its course in a way that the chunk of land falls into a river for a softer landing. The log house island landed on the river, started cracking, and bounced out of the river into a forest. Just as Kirito attempted to look at what happened to Aincrad while his log house was blocked off by a cloud of dust, the warnings disappeared from the sky... and he suddenly lost the ability to fly... along with Asuna and Alice. Thinking that something happened to voluntary flight, Kirito Trualf tu 54 to no stacuation of the salm, sublishan, sabobas, kang) tabo, tabo 4-4 Calposts for some 100 00 swows yubrabbob NAM YAMAMAMAMAMY LE 00 01-40 30-4 An a purpose Alele Againish tuolloni Agani Aga Oyéébekésgéscéscésgóad OAnswers Answerm. nnã £ Soever you euy, ever eubey, mã édos, Quadrames , kabameobb. Kirito has a flashback of Andrew/Agil explaining ALO basics in Fairy Dance. MP (mana point) bar is green, TP bar is blue, and SP bar is yellow. Thinking that there may be some announcement from Ymir, Kirito checked on the Communication tab on his menu. This gave the following options: party, friend, message. Kirito chose the last option and not only did he not find a new message, he found no old messages either. Friend list is just as empty. So, no sending messages to Liz and the gang. At least we still have our stuff, Alice points out. So, Kirito looks into his storage... only to find but two items there. Specifically, two one-handed swords: Academy So, no sending messages to Liz and the gang. At least we still have our stuff, Alice points out. the sword created by Lisbeth, and A«ÂHoly Sword ExcaliburA»Â. Everything else was gone without a trace. He must keep: his Rapier and his staff (probably Yggdrasil Crest?). He swords and shield. Alice proposes the idea that they only kept their two most precious possessions each. So, Kirito removes the sword. Him's reliable weight appears on his back ... if he does not realize that the "reliable" weight is a bit too much for a lvl 1 ... weighs like a huge steel bundle now. Hence, a defenseless kilhitus sway his hands to try to cling to something so as not to fall on his shoulders. That "something" is obviously Asuna and Alice. In particular, he is grabbing their sword belts. While the two girls are screaming, he asks them to wait a little so that he could correct the posture of him by lowering his left knee to the ground so as not to fall on his shoulders. When the boy looks to his hp bar, he notices that an icon of the weight had flashing red: he is overwhelmed by the weight. Asuna then points out that their statistics have been reset, so it is natural that she cannot use her heavy stuff now. Apparently, Unital ring has 2 weight parameters: equipping weight. While the latter bar is barely around 30% full, the first is already in red. Even if, that 30% in his inventory is just a sword. At that moment, Asuna Specula that their skills have also been reset ... but she stopped thinking about Metã. After looking in an empty lifeless space for a moment, Asuna has in a hurry controlled her skills ... and sighed in relief. Apparently, while her magic, mixing and other skills have disappeared, she at least still had her rabil, with her jurisdiction and sword to touch. Asuna worried about the possibility of having lost the rosary of Yuuki's mother. Alice had the opportunity to keep the sword of 1-Handed, with her competence in her touch. So she proposes the idea that only theirs ehc ehc otaenilottos ah anus alled otla 'Aip otallevil reipaR Atiliba aus alled otla encoded in her touch. So she proposes the idea that only their encompetence in the competence in her touch in the competence in the competen "A ollevil otla id should stop using that nickname now that it no longer has a healing ability. However, Asuna finally pointed out that Kirito should put his sword back in his warehouse if he can't even use it. But, Kirito being Kirito, he only had to continue to struggle and try to stand up while he hooks the sword. Surprisingly, his effort did not go to waste, since he gained a new skill at that point. Reading a window that has risen, Kirito learned that he acquired Sturdiness skill and increased it to level 1. Apparently, the skill system in Unital Ring works exactly as in ALO. Acquire/level skills through meeting the requirements for "PI triggers (proficiency)". While Kirito has never seen Sturdiness's ability before, it assumes that it is the same as "Expanded Storage" by SAO. While Kirito considered carrying the weight of his sword until he leveled the sufficient ability to properly put his sword, he decided to follow the instructions of Asuna and drag and drop the weapon to his deposit, as he had no idea how long the process would require. So the three decide to go to the register house. As they began walking, Kirito manipulated his menu to invite Asuna and Alice to his party. At least the parts seem to work standard so far: the HP bars of your party members appear under your own. They still don't know what TP and SP are, since they're still full. So they thought they'd find out when they were down. Before entering the registry house crash site, Kirito checked the map. Of course, only the parts where they've already been mapped so far, but at least he realized they were going north-east. After sailing a labyrinth of collapsed trees, the gang found their path blocked by a funds that are twice the size of their height. They cannot use wings, so they just have to scare them. This reported the memories of Kazuto who plays with Suguha in Kawagoe City City Park light athletics. Just when Kirito was standing. The registers are apparently treated as materials, therefore they can be stored in their inventories. Of course, she did not wait for Kirito to really descend first ... and all the trunks were now falling on top of him as he fell on his butt ... at least the girls managed to pull him out of the damage in front of the skin of his teeth of himNow they have got rid of the trunks by memorizing them in their inventories, even if Kirito's transport weight is now used at 90%. In the end they reached Tronchi's house. Although he was not completely destroyed by the accident ... he was not even unharmed. The left wall is broken, the roof is dented, the windows are all broken, while the porch and the stairs look like a giant from Jotunheim has trampled on. However, considering how much the house had actually fallen (10 km), it is still a miracle that was still standing. Alice asks Kirito if the house can be repaired ... but Kirito replies that the players' houses should have been indestructible objects and simply touches the handjobs of the property only indicated that the building was a player house, the window in a unit ring showed the following: Top: £ yesterday € ¥ ¥ â ° ... â ± â € œ - Cypress trunks under that: the owners (Asuna and Kirito) below that: duration (colored bar). The lasting parameter had the following numbers: ã £ ¬ ¬ ãhorte "ãhorte a" é 22 à ™ ue é è œ œ ãâche ° 'āhorte âina Âina â € ¢ Ãsto à é 22 à £ â,¬ â »... and was still decreasing at a rhythm of 1 point for 10 seconds. Kirito looked at the time. 27 â Â ° day, 17:32. If nothing is done, The house would fall the next morning around 6:30. Due to Alice who reminds them to look for a repair button, He looked at the window again and noticed 4 buttons: information, trade, repair, disassembly. Kirito tried to press the third button. And he discovered that repairs would do it ŏÿ "Ability of elementary carpentry ŏÿ '162 trunks followed ŏÿ' 75 wooden axes ŏÿ '216 iron plates ŏÿ '463 iron nails ŏÿ '30 flaxseed oil" € ⟨ŏÿ' 24 glass plates since Alo apparently does not. T have a housing creation system, the three are finally convinced they are no longer in Alo. With the encouragement of Alice, the two decided to start collecting all those materials. Fortunately, there were many wooden materials around, so they emptied their inventories (including their weapons) to start collecting things. Their inventories can carry only 5-6 logs. After 20 minutes, they collected all logs around the site of the accident. 10 piles of 15 trunks... 150 in total ... still 12 short.... apparently called "oldened megurimatsu" logs. Asuna thinks she's quality stuff. Alice observed that they remembered the woods near Roche. But in both cases, the logs must be processed before they can be used... only the problem is that they need something to process them with ... Kirito again thought of Yui, but they concluded that the navigation pixie system is made null and void Now, which means they had no way to contact her. But since Yui stored Kazuto's PC, she wasn't in danger alone. He also offered to disconnect and control it, but Asuna rejected the offer, as he wanted Yui to help Liz and Silica if he were still with the girls. Alice just remembered the time she built her log cabin in RULID after leaving the Central Cathedral. This prompted Kirito to remember that Alice had spent half a year taking care of him while his fluctuation was broken. However, Alice mentioned a tool that they could use for registers based on her experience in the underworld... but they would need a local transfer of the control of the co buy one ... creating it would need another pile of tools, while they did not have seen any city nearby where they could buy it. But in the end they thought that even a normal knife would do the job. So as a asuna rushed she rushed Their house in the hope of finding some of their things... but their house was completely empty... just as Kirito was about to try to rejoice, he realized that even a sword would work. The girls reminded him of his shameful sight the last time he tried to equip him, but Kirito opened his menu, selected the figure of his equipment (it turns out, this works as in Sao) ... and pressed the button to divert all his things at once without hesitation .... leaving him alone in his boxers... Unfortunately for him, the sword is still too heavy. And so Kirito realized that when everyone was restored to Livel Zero, people with heavy armor would not be able to move, so the game had made an exception and allowed people to continue wearing the things they had already. But since Kirito took away his things, that exception no longer applies to him. So all his things are now as heavy as a dick, which means he's stuck in boxer mode. At least Kirito leveled his robustness at level 2 in the process... not much comfort. So, after using the button to remove all of his things again, Kirito is now stuck in his boxers... and is reprimended by Alice for her stupidity while sitting in the pose of Seiza. Kirito tries to console himself in the girls would refrain from access until she got some clothes. In the meantime, Asuna laughs. Alice didn't have fun with the fact that they're always like this. At this point, Kirito realized he was not in a role-playing game, but in a survival game (both Real Life Games and Game Computer Game) for Alice, realizes that TP and SP are thirsty and hunger. Asuna translates those as another came the was not in a role-playing game, but in a survival game (both Real Life Games and Game Computer Game) for Alice, realizes that TP and SP are thirsty and hunger. to suppress the laughter. At that point, Alice explained that Kirito breaking the stones in his underwear of him looked like a neanderthal that she saw on TV. She also proposed the idea of changing her boxers in a pelt fur to complete the look. This breaks the limits of ASUNA self-crime and starts slipper, followed by Alice immediately after. In response, Kirito begins to protest ... in self-foundate Neanderthalian ... making the girls burst into laughter. However, on his third blow, Kirito managed to divide a fragment of the stone, creating a piece of 3 x 5 cm, of 1 cm thick. With the black stone, Kirito further developed the piece of stone, believing that the system would somehow understand what he was planning and helping him. In the end, a flash came from the stone for a moment and Kirito received a system message that obtained the Stonemasonry qualification, raising it at level 1. But Kirito was more interested in his work rather than the skill, so he has Touched the stone, bringing out a window. The window showed: [raw, sharp, green stone knife; Weapon/Tool; Attack: Slash 7.82; Thrust 5.33; Duration: 10.05; Evidence: 3.53] So, Kirito managed to make a knife. While he was rough, the knife had built the knife. Put your new knife away, Kirito took the other piece of stone and repeat the same process. After numerous tests, he finally managed to get another fragment of decent dimensions outside the stone and made a second knife outside of it. Since then, his skill of Stonemasonry reached the 3. The third knife arrived faster. What remained of its stone materials was deemed inadequate for further processing and dispersed ehc ottaf led onavatnemal is ezzagar el ,otiriK avattepsa were apparently working on taste sensors for Alice's body, although it will take some time to develop. At that time, Asuna finally shows a smile as she promises Alice to hold a party at the Dicey Cafe once Alice earns the ability to eat food in the real world. You also promise to make tons of tasty stuff for her then. Since then, the sky is dyed in deep violet and the stars began to appear here and there. The time is 18:45 PM (the Asuna dinner is at 19:00 PM), so it is about time for the first logout. But there's something they need to deal with before then... - stabing their records somewhere. Since the wooden house is still considered a home player, although it is constantly decaying away, Kirito assumes that anything in the house's deposit would be safe from theft. Thus, he decides to have the logs moved to the register house through different tracks carrying them in their main weapons now useless. When they finish, it's already 18:55. After planning to make some new armor (or at least some clothes) while watching his Boxers-Only avatar, he says goodbye to Asuna and Alice, accepting to meet again with them 30 minutes later. At that point, the three press the exit button through their menus. This led to a standard warning that it was possible that his avatar die if you registered while it is not in a safe place, but Kirito concludes that there is no safer place than home. When you press the "yes" button to exit, a confirmation window will appear. "Would you like to disconnect from the unit ring?" So, for the first time, Kirito learns the name of the survival game that was dragged Moments late, Kazuto wakes up in his room. Logout works well, despite suddenly being hijacked that way. However, he soon hears something heavy on the stomach ... s was only one person in the world who would do something like that. Apparently, Suguha came over to call him for dinner. It seems he didn't notice that she was shaking him, so she was about to pull his AmuSphere of him. When Kazuto asked why she hadn't just sent him a message (ALO is connected to outside networks, thus it was possible to surf the net an exchange messages in-game), Suguha revealed that she had tried... twice even, but received no response, so she decided to resort to using force. Suguha also complained that she wished she had been home an hour earlier so she could have joined them on their farming, as Liz had promised to show her a secret good spot. Meanwhile, Kirito realised that the ALO --> UR change was responsible for the unreceived messages. Just as Kazuto began telling Suguha that something bad happened in ALO and that Sugu was lucky she wasn't there, he recalled that Lisbeth, Silica, and Yui were still inside the game on the 45th Floor of Aincrad. He suddenly jumped up (causing Suguha to fall off) and grabbed his Augma from his desk. The moment it loaded up, he called out for Yui, but received no response from her, so he concluded that she was still in Unital Ring. Although he could forcefully disconnect her via his PC, he did not want to force her out. At that moment, he realised that unlike in SAO, Unital Ring wasn't isolated from the real world and that the whole transition took place at around 5 PM, so 2 hours earlier. Thus, he presumed that some ALO players would have logged out to take it up with the admins and share info on the Internet. Via his Augma, he was about to access ëÂMMO TodayûÂ, the largest online game info site... when Suguha struck a daunting pose as she pulled on

At the time of the sudden change, Silica, Lisbeth and Yui had been in a valley on the margins of the 45 â â € Aenrad, fighting against the snail type monsters. The monsters were hard but weak, therefore very practical for the leveling skills. Just when they were about to leave the valley for a break, the earth began to tremble. Not knowing that Aincrad had started falling, the girls managed to leave the castle. As soon as they flew about 100 m away, the castle crashed a Tunguska on the ground. The shock wave from the impact sent the girls lost all their statistics, objects apart from their main weapons and reinforcement, and wings, while Yui lost their skills pixie

Silica and Lisbeth took turns to come out to take care of bathroom problems and rehydration in the real world. But the girls understood that, as in Alo, their avatars remained temporarily vulnerable when they recorded.
There were Scorpions and sand-colored wolves turning the area, so they risked their avatars killed if they left them unprotected. protected. pr that floors 1-20 were utterly destroyed, while even the floors that avoided that fate were partially destroyed. There were approximately 1,200 players inside Aincrad at the time... and almost all of them died in the crash. Until now, Silica still had a hopes that this whole thing was just a fancy surprise event, but Yui's news eliminated that possibility entirely. Though, she assumes that the players wouldn't be subjected to a gruesome death penalty due to the leniency period in place in the game. Yui's in her white one-piece dress mode. Apparently, she lost ther navigation pixie abilities at the same moment as the other girls lost their flight abilities. She even specifies the exact moment: 27 September, 17:05. She then lists the events that took place at that moment: the disappearance of the hexagonal messages in the sky that had been up for 5 minutes till then; the change in all game systems, including the UI; Yui losing her system access right; Yui being turned from pixie to human. Yui is currently being regarded as an ordinary player no special rights. As Silica tried to cheer Yui up, the AI girl revealed that she was a bit happy with the change. Like the other girls, she now could equip weapons and armour, hold items, has a HP bar, and her avatar would die once the HP reached 0. While she doesn't know what would happen if she were to die... for the first time, she gained the txen

Unlike the usual Vrmmorpg, where outside there was a little light even at night, the unitary nights of the rings are dark as the real thing. Reflectively, Lisbeth attempted to sing a basic spell for a light. The spell of Lisbeth of course, did not work. The unitary ring should have spells since there is an MP bar, but it is not clear how to use them. The narrative explains that the VMMMORPG usually have 1 of 3 different mechanisms for the launch of spells: 1) singing a spell (as in ALO) 2) a special gesture with hands and staff 3) that chooses the spell from a Branco or from an Olo-Window. Yui hypothesized that they needed to find an NPC or something like that to learn the magical qualities. Therefore, they will have to resist the spells until then. The silica would have preferred to wait until dawn for a little light ... but it would take 6-10 hours (depending on whether the day cycle follows the intervals of 24 hours of ALO or RL) and the modality of clemency could very well exhaust at that point, so they couldn't afford to wait. Therefore, the silica took a long branch from the fail and used it to lift the window of its property: [thin combustion branch; Weapon/materials; Attack: Smash 0.43 Flame 0.37; Duration: 1.44; Weight: 0.69]. The duration is decreasing at a rhythm of 0.01 for 2 seconds. So, it would only provide light for just under 5 minutes. Silica asked what is the difference between a torch and a simple branch. So, Yui explained that the torch is written as ã âô å½ (pine light) because the Japanese used for the most the resin of the pine for it. Amazed to the details of the answer, Lisbeth wondered if Yui was looking for him on the net. However, Yui has htebsiL htebsiL, iuY id illepac i odnazzeraccA ereva non id Morf efink eht spilugenu reve ehs

At that time, kirito died in his thoughts. apparently, during their alo adventures, kirito learned that impeccable alix hated some things. one of these things were caves. Although Alice went completely well with artificial subterraneans, cave exploration

Since kirito did not expect to find a cave from nothing, he proposed to treat first the materials in wood, especially because now they had a discreet bottle with them. leafa quickly realized that she was talking about her, so he

the eight icons on it differed slightly in color shades. the upper icon was dyed red, but the following icons gradually have a bluish shade so at the clock level, until the last one was completely bluish violet. Since asuna did not understand what was the point of Alice, cait sith explained that all icons were zephilia-blue when he opened his menu at the time of the accident. the fact that the color has remembered Alice of the icons had already changed color... so he theorized thatit served as a timer for the period of clemency. kirito did the math: five icons = 2.5 hours, then 1 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 1 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, then 2 icon = 30 min. means, 1.5 hours, 1.5 hours, left. then, Alice urged everyone to hurry with the trees while still had Leafa's sword. Leafa would fell some trees while the debarking. But once they rushed out to the porch, they stopped. Since they noticed that it had become awfully dark since the last time they were outside. At that point, Alice stepped outside with an impromptu torch. Apparently, Alice had returned faster than the others and found two egg-sized stones for starting a fire, thinking how actual otherworldians were really something, Kirito asked how she had used the stones. But when Alice explained how she had made some tinder out of dry grass, used the stones near it to cause a spark, lighting the grass on about the tenth attempt, and then used the lit grass to set fire to a tree branch, calling the process simpler than in Underworld... Kirito for once thought that he'd have preferred to have magic. In SAO, he had used lanterns for lighting, but those could be lit up with a press of a button, so not much different from magic. But Unital Ring wasn't going to go as easy on them. Just as Kirito was about to head out to find his own branch, Alice went over to a large stockpile of them that she had already acquired, and lit them up. At that instant, Leafa remarked that the fire effect was quite realistic, which caused Kirito to compare UR to ALO and SAO - UR had much better graphics than those two. Kirito used an analogy with flat panel displays: it was like comparing HD and 4K video. However, Kirito noted that this clashed with the info he had acquired when he had logged out: how exactly was the game capable of such high resolution when it forcibly converted players from 100s of The Seed games? By that point, Kirito was forcefully woken from his daydreaming when Leafa slapped him on his back to get psyched for the job, Leafa had already begun slashing eus ellus 'Aig eradraug non id otitrevva ah ol afaeL ,orter lus otiriK ovoun id odnettabS hurriedly jumped back, he seemed to have caught a glimpse of disappointment on Asuna's face, but he brushed it off as his imagination. Anyway, now being careful not to have disappointment on Asuna to move out of the way, before taking a chuudan (middle) stance with her long sword in both hands. Leafa's long sword is apparently categorised as a bastard sword and could thus use both one-handed sword sword is apparently categorised as a bastard sword sword is apparently categorised as a bastard sword sword sword sword sword in both hands. Leafa's long sword is apparently categorised as a bastard sword swo and weight for a kendoka like her. Anyway, Leafa raised her long sword and it lit up green, triggering a Sword Skill, thus confirming their existence (though Kirito had assumed they existed as weapon skills were transferred over from ALO). Leafa used a two-parter two-handed sword Sword Skill named A«ACataractA»A. Normally, the skill consisted of two overhead slashes, but Leafa's were so fast that it seemed like both attacks came in a single breath. The slash sunk into two and fell to the ground. Between the two pieces was a long and thin board/plank. Kirito grabbed it before it could fall to the ground. The board/plank was 2 cm thick and as smooth as a plank treated with a plane. When Kirito tapped on it, the property window named it [Sawed Aged Megurimatsu Board]. This method allowed them to produce the needed materials... but they could only get one per log at this rate. Kirito suggested making something to support the logs so they could be reused, but Leafa told him to just support it by hand. Despite having a bad premonition about this, Kirito complied by raising the log to stand vertically on its ends while he it with his hands. Leafa activated another two-handed sword Skill, this time a one-parter A«ACascadeA»A. The skill sliced through the tree about 2 cm away from the previous cut. Kirito gave a scream, thinking that his hand was chopped off too, but he hadn't actually suffered any damage. As he was about to let go of the log, Leafa ordered him to hold still and again activated A«ÂCataractA»Â, just as its cooldown expired. Followed by A«ÂCataractA»Â. Then again A«ÂCataractA»Â. After a total of six slashes, what was left of the log broke like glass, having expended its durability. That left them with six boards of different sizes out of it. Seven if you count the very first one. Alice gave Leafa an applause for her splendid work. The Cait Sith claimed that Leafa did a better job at making the boards than Alice herself had during her seclusion in Rulid As Leafa gave an embarrassed grin, Asuna continued pouring the praise by saying that Kirito probably wouldn't have done the job as accurately as her. Kirito grumbled in his mind that he had no way of showing off his divine skills as he silently added the boards to his storage. He then picked up the other half of the log and prepared it for the same process. By the time they finished slicing ten logs in such a manner, the time was past 8 PM. Less than one hour till the leniency period expired. By now, they already had 130 boards, but that meant that only 2 of the 6 different kinds of materials had been gathered. The other 4, however, were going to be harder to get. Now they had to do something about the iron materials. While they could craft a furnace, they'd still need to find ore to make the iron. Ore could be found in caves, but those would naturally have monsters. The stronger kind to boot. After another one of Kirito's internal monologues about how not everyone had their items equipped before the conversion and stuff, we finally get an

"We fight, Kirito-Kun!", He shouted Leafa and she prepared her rides. Kirito replied leaving her the front while he headed towards the right side of the bear. In the meantime, Asuna jumped to the left, while Alice assisted Leafa. At that point, the bear jumped over the fire, landing right in front of Leafa. After getting up again, the bear seemed three times bigger. Without deilpmoc ecila Kirito extended his arms. Ignoring a [Sturdiness proficiency increased to 3] window, Kirito mustered his menu. He tapped on the option to materialise all the logs. At that moment, 40 cm thick logs started appearing and falling down... Kirito suddenly heard a fanfare as a blue ring enveloped his body. Once it went levelup message. He figured that even a monster like that should drop some money and items. So, he carefully crawled to the edge to look at the meadow. Then he realised why he didn't get any drops. The bear's body was still there, buried under the logs. Apparently, unlike SAO, dead bodies stay behind, rather than crumbling to pieces. Meaning that he had to put in some effort to retrieve the drops from the body. Thinking that the body wouldn't just disappear all of a sudden, Kirito returned to the hole and carefully climbed down. At that moment, Asuna clung to him with the force of a cannonball. Just as Kirito was about to say that it was all thanks to Asuna's that they won, he realised that the other girls were looking at him, so he corrected himself to say that all of them helped him with the task before the words left his mouth. Having survived the bear attack, the group returned all the logs into their home Then the guestion came with what to do with the bear stronger. The girls silently looked at Kirito. Kirito considered temporarily that Alice could have experience of managing the bodies of the beasts driven out of the underworld, but he decided that she had to act alone. While he prayed that the dissection of his prey would be managed in one or two moves without the need to see all the viscera, Kirito pushed his stone knife into the bear under her jaw. Once he made a cut from the stomach chest, the corpse flashed and disappeared, leaving a load of objects behind it. [You have acquired the disabled. The competence raised to 1]. Kirito was left with an object similar to a blanket (fur), a pink mass (meat) and various other objects. Asuna has collected an almost 10 cm long claw. At that point, Alice asked how the rights of booty were managed. When Kirito stressed that anyone who could collect him, she realized that he could raise problems at the moment did not matter, Asuna launched the claw to Kirito, before saying that they should have moved the bear materials and return to collect the materials for repairs. When Kirito checked him, he remained only an icon that had not changed the colors. So, just 30 minutes. At that point, Leafa asked if Kirito had an idea where to take iron. Kirito had one: the bear house. Chapter 6 The chapter begins with silica and Lisbeth eats a soup with ground meat ... and the grass strings that had spent so much time to create (substantially used as pasta). After Lisbeth chewed a little of one of his. He didn't really taste, but he didn't really taste, but he didn't even seem as unusual as food. The taste seemed familiar to silica silica silica silica silica silica silica after some most deep tests of his memories, he recalled "Niimoji". The two girls questioned that both were referring to the same thing - both Shirodatsu and niimoji were only dialectal words for "Zuiki" (Taro Steli). Yui then started working in technicity on what she is and how she is cooked, even if she never tasted her alone. Lisbeth then concluded that from the taste for the grass they were eating had to come from real Taro stems. The two girls have still clung to their dialectical names for the thing. Silica then tried to feed her in Pina on her tour. The dragon were sitting in a corner of a circular tent ~ 10 m. On a fur carpet: A bit like a seat of honor. The tent had a large hearth (Sunken) in the center, with adults of Bashin and children sitting in a ring around it and eating their meals ... made by the 60 pieces of grass ropes that the girls had offered the grass to be a good delicacy. When Silica finished emptying her bowl, the launched first (now without a spear) came to her, offering a recharge (which were still communicating through her Yui, of course). Since Lisbeth whispered that she would have been rude to refuse, Silica accepted the offer. Lanciaman said something with a smile before going to the hearth. Yui hesitated for a moment to translate that she said.

View Apparently, what he said was ... "For a girl from Fellian, you are really a glutton." Of course, Silica had problems with it, since the man was to offer a recharge. iuY. "onailleF" nu essof elaug eredeihc id esiced aciliS Go away, Yui suddenly asked him something. The girls could not understand what they said, but the man returned to the hearth. Apparently, Yui Yui The man if their court had a reserve armor could lend him. The girl learned that the court really had nothing they needed ... but they were open to the perspective of a trade. The silica began to analyze that they had on them. Realizing that they really had nothing that would be willing to stage. However, Yui at that point explained that the court was not so interested in equipment ... as in the workforce, or more specifically, extra fighting force. Spearman, who apparently had been called Tajiru, had told Yui that he had seen another "star" apart from Aenrad's autumn. It was more and fell to the north-east rather than south like Aenrad. They were also planning to investigate demons. So if the girls helped them during the expedition, they would be willing to give them weapons and armor. Of course, nobody knew that the "little star" was only the home of Tronchi di Kirito and Asuna. So, while the girls deduced that the star could only be a fragment of Aenrad, Lisbeth doubted that it was actually possible, since the air resistance of Seed Vrmmos was set to be higher than in real life. To prevent psychological shocks from great falls, as it could cause the safe of the amusiferous that express the players. Therefore, even large objects that were in a favorable shape could slide through the air for some time. However, there would require the intervention of a player. The silica raised the possibility that there is one (part of a) city on that fragment. In this case, some equipment or consumer materials could not completely deny the possibility, but she was more skeptical about it. Anyway, Silica has that could not get in their current area there, and even if they found nothing, they would have at least got equipment to helpAt that point, Lisbeth pointed out how much it was by calculating the silica. But he still agreed with his point of view and asked Yui to tell Tajiru they would help. So, Yui went to the boy to the hearth and made him smile when he told him about their decision. But just as Silica was assured that their negotiation was successful, a cry came from the entrance.
Apparently, a taller and more sour than any other basin.... Woman Warrior... had walked strongly into the tent. He was wearing only leather armor on his chest and life, so he showed more skin than any other female there. The woman approached the fireplace in large steps and shouted like a husky at Spearman. She seemed to have passed the Spearman. The woman occasionally looked at Silica and Co, showing a clear hostility towards them. In the end, Spearman announced. At that time, Yui rushed back to the girls and explained what was going on. Apparently, the woman was named "Izelma" ... and was the leader of the field. And she wanted the girls to show her what they were capable of if they wanted to take part in the scouting mission. The silica had no idea how to do it, while Lisbeth hypothesized it to be a battle for events... so, he delegated the silica was however discouraged by the fact that it had to go to battle despite being a level 1 ... and it was regretted not to cultivate scorpions and things to rise to level. However, the silica decided to resign quickly as it lost more than 30 ... Do that 20% of its HP while giving Pina to Yui. The dragon landed on Yui's head, while Yui wanted the luck of the silica, while Lisbeth gave her an inch. The silica went to the center of the endure the many difficulties, survive multiple situations, and get to the land indicated by the Aurora, I/us (?) To give you everything] when the voice from the sky has disappeared, even the aurora is disappeared, even the aurora is disappeared, even the aurora is disappeared. Just as Kirito tried to contemplate the meaning of those words, hear behind him. Before Kirito ended up his question about what happened

... he sighed. Because the girls did not listen to him to remove their equipment. And so all three were now on the floor with their hands, trying to get up. At that point, Alice ordered Kirito to go out. This was expected, Kirito nodded and headed for the porch. During that period, Kirito investigated the damage to the house caused by the bear. Even if the house had to last at least to ~ 6 am from their previous calculations, now it was only ~ 4 am. So they remain only 7 hours. But at least they managed to find some iron mineral in the bear cave. Apparently, He used that iron to make those metal needles on the chest. With an improvised improvised stone they had gathered as much of the ore as they could, though they wouldn't know if that were enough until they processed it. So, the first step to their iron age was to create a furnace. Of course, Kirito complained about wanting clothes, as always. But he had to prioritise getting iron while they still had Leafa's sword. And they had apparently faced some megabat during their adventure. Just as

Kirito resolved to get some clothes ASAP, the ladies were done and so Leafa called him back. There, he found the girls standing in a line... and all of them were wearing the same kind of one-piece dress, to his surprised. Kirito asked how the girls had acquired the dresses. Thus, with a 70% proud, 30% guilty expression, Asuna explained that they had crafted cloths from the Amane grass fibres, and then made clothes out of them. As Kirito stood there dumbfounded, Alice added with a smile that they learnt from his personal experience that their ALO equipment would eventually become unusable. So, they made preparations in advance. So, Kirito asked if there was something for him too.. but before he could finish his question, Leafa apologised that they had run out of A\(A\)Amane Grass Coarse ClothsA\(A\)A by the time they finished crafting the three dresses, though she promised that they had run out of A\(A\)Amane Grass Coarse ClothsA\(A\)Amane Grass ClothsA\(A\)Amane G the ladies on their new outfits, of course! Meanwhile, Asuna wondered if the game had some screenshot function. Since there wasn't any screenshot button, Kirito assumed that there could be an item for taking pictures, like in SAO. The one most disappointed by the lack of a way to take a picture... was apparently Alice. After a moment, she closed her window and changed the topic to the voice from before. Alice apparently found the voice's manner of speech to be similar to Quinella has already died, so Kirito concluded that she could not be her. end to Quinella, who made him feel severe pain in his chest suddenly. After taking a deep breath and burying the pain at the bottom of his memories, Kirito returned to the conversation. He proposed to deal with the late voice and instead of focusing on home repairs for now. Kirito started creating a plan: he went to collect some stones at the river, while the girls would have taken a little wood to fire from the registers. But before he could end, he was suddenly attacked by an intense sense of thirst and could not end up talking. When he looked at his status bars, he noticed that the tp bar (leading point) was already affected by an intense sense of thirst and could not end up talking. long time for realizing that the game would not have been easy with him. In the meantime, the girls had also heard the same feeling and were therefore pressing the throat and cough. Kirito concluded that the feeling of dry throat has arrived too quickly compared to the real world. And while he would not have a negative effect on their body, he theorized that if the bar reached 0, their HP would have begun to decrease. So, change of floors: all to the river. The girls announced to the proposal to unanimit. hypothesized the cursor appears only when they actually commit the opponent in combat. So, it was impossible to say if an animal is hostile or harmless through this system. In addition, the monster was not even afraid of their torches. Suddenly, Ornitorinco, who had shown his head and his invoice so far, revealed the rest of his body. But rather than the fur, the Ornitorinco had a stairs. After several moments of standing on four legs, the Ornitorinco suddenly got up. Her rear legs were apparently larger of the front legs. And he had a long tail. At that moment, Kirito shouted that he looked like a duck, the zanne another lump to the monster. Kirito at the end realized that the grumio was actually the meat of the bear that brought plug. After finishing the second lump of meat, Platysaur would ever be satisfied, since it was twice a large dog (even if more small of the bear), Kirito was for to launch the meat a little more next time to buy time to escape. At that moment, Leafa shouted a congratches in Asuna while she started scratching the monster's stairs. Platysaur seems to have had fun. Kirito wondered what the monster was called, so he looked at the cursor. Under the HP bar, he saw the following string: [Nagahashi Oo-Agame] (Long-Billed (?) Grande Agame) in Katakana. Kirito also did not understand what "Agame" meant. Kirito tried to call Yui, but then he remembered that they were still separated. Then he thought he would start a browser, but he understood that he would not work in the game. So, he understood that he would look for her next time he recorded himself ... if she still remembered doing it. So, now that they avoided a battle with the monster, Kirito proposed to start bringing the stones. But Alice suggested eating first. At that moment, Kito's stomach reminded him of him with another grumble. After satisfying the empty stomach and the SP bars with cooked bear meat (Kirito was pleasantly surprised that this also recovered (some of?) The HP of him), the group collected the stones near the river. Other materials they needed were clay and dry grass. Kirito wondered where they could get the clay, but when he collected some of the white-ish soil at the river bank and hit on it, he has a window that he said he was [coarse gray clay]. After finishing collecting the materials, the group returned to the wooden house. Here, Kirito opened his menu. And at that moment, he once again noticed that the interior of the icon 8 ring was not more empty. This that Kirito saw on the menu of him hard, so if something fell into the sand or water, he could have survived the accident with Less damage. Asuna replied to that speech and exclaimed that the boys were probably from Alo, so she wanted to know if they saw where Aenrad had crashed. The boys had seen Aenrad, but from afar. While Asuna continued to attack the dagger with his questions, the type of leather armor prevented the dagger from continuing, saying that the map data was precious. Alice wanted to reproach that the boys were cheap skates, but Leafa stopped it. In the meantime, Kirito has taken a step forward and agreed to exchange the map data, asking what they wanted in return. After consulting him, the type of leather armor asked for food and a place to spend the night. So, Kirito returned to the girls to talk about the offer, asking Asuna if they had enough bear meat left aside. Asuna replied that they still had more, but among these 8 boys, their own party, and Agah-chan, their stocks would be exhausted after a meal. Kirito asked what happens if they used the meat to do the soup or something like that, rather than eating it alone. Asuna replied that she could make 2 portions outside it, but she could make 3 portions outside it. doesn't mind, since she was only for one night. Then she asked the other girls if they were fine the agreement. The girls (and also platysaur) agreed with it, so Kirito returned to men again, saying that they could offer enough food to fill their bar sp, as well as a one To sleep, even if they had not read, nor could it guarantee the taste of food. The leader responded that it would be enough to get a place to stay without fear of being attacked by monsters or NPC, as it was very risky to disconnect into this world. When Kirito asked what this had in mind, the boy explained it from that world message, the Avatars no longer disappeared during the inscription, which means they would be exposed to danger during that time. So, the boys came here looking for a safe place to sleep. a surprise moment of having suffered so much damage, Kirito realized he was literally without armor, while the enemy used a high-quality metal dagger. He would probably die instantly if he hadn't been on his level. The dagger boy was equally surprised, as an instakill expected with his attack. Meanwhile, Alice and Leafa jumped in front of Kirito, armed with the knife and the Ax respectively, calling the boy for his cowardly move. At that point, a cursor appeared above the dagger attacked Kirito. "Kirito had never heard of this boy before, but assumed he could be related to laughing the coffin. After a moment of that you had no concept of crime. So, the colors just distinguished friends from the enemy. The boy in the leather armor asked Mocri what he was doing, while the others seemed to panic, so Kirito assumed Mocri's action was his idea. But at that time, Mocri told Bolan, that is, the leader, on the Kirito ranking in second place in the tournament. Mocri basically like GGO's BoB, so ranking second was a pretty big deal. And it wouldn't be strange if a PvPer checked out the names of the tournament participants. Bolan switched his gaze from Kirito to Mocri and back several times, before saying, "In that case...... we've got no choice." This prompted surprise from Leafa, who stated they had no intention of attacking them at all, while their guy just went and attacked them out of the blue. After searching for the rights words for a moment, Bolan said, "You still don't get it.", in an admonishing tone. The guy claimed that UR isn't a mere survival RPG or a battle royale, but a race, referencing the 9 o'clock announcement. That the first person would get everything. While Bolan didn't really know what "everything" is. When Bolan asked if Kirito wouldn't want to know what that "everything" is, Kirito responded that he wasn't so desperate that he'd kill for it. Following Kirito's comeback, Bolan suddenly claimed that Kirito was at fault for how things turned out. According to Bolan's logic, everyone in ALO knows that Kirito was at fault for how things turned out. So, according to the guy's logic, now is his only chance to beat him Kirito tried to explain that all they cared about was fixing their house and that they had no interest in being first or anything. But Bolan just reasoned that after Kirito was done with his house, he'd grow interest in finding out the secrets of the world. Kirito would have preferred to lure the boys into the forest where he would have less disadvantages due to being in the minority, but he could not leave Asuna behind in his defenseless state. Especially since Agah was just tamed and did not expect his loyalty parameter to be more than minimal. Which could mean he'd run away after he took damage. Bolan attacked Kirito, forcing him to shout. This made Kirito suspect that Bolan was just a diversion to Mocri's attack. So, Kirito tried to overcome them in agility, since he was not burdened with armor, unlike them. With some fast curves, Kirito got a stab at the left flank of Mocri, which caused damage to 5% of HP. Kirito thought of using sword skills, but had no ability to use SS with a knife. So, his only choice was to put his opponents down little by little. Meanwhile, Asuna's aggressors were having their hands full of Agah, while Alice and Leafa were moving away pretty well. Asuna's been missing for 10 minutes, so Kirito decided to jump right, hoping to go after Bolan while the boy was busy shooting. However, Mocri and Bolan suddenly connected left hands together and simultaneously pulled their figurative breaks, causing Mocri to make a sudden turn and close on Kirito. Mocri's blade went for Kirito's stomach, but Kirito intercepted it with his left hand. This led to a superficial cut - Kirito's HP at 45%. At that point, Kirito observed that the two must have met before the Ur. Bolan replied that he, Mocri and Tetsuriki had met from the OAL, foror worse. The two boys could make moves so coordinated without even visual contact, Kirito had to give them more credit. At that point, Mocri declared that the time had come to fix things, things, It apparently had the impression of how Kirito fights. Mocri said that his "teacher" told him to look at the general picture during a fight, focusing on the entire body of the opponent, rather than just a part of it. In this way, he could say what they would do and what were weak. Kirito was at a loss for whom this "teacher" was but Bolan pushed the shoulder of Mocri and the two decided to finish the fight with a specific technique. Mocri moved left; Bolan on the right, forming a 3 m equilateral triangle. Mocri went for a low position (Gedan); Bolan for an aerial position (Gedan). Their weapons began to shine. So - Sword skill! A blow from one of the two or less that you write to death for Kirito. But dodging both was a kind of high order. In the meantime, Kirito could not use the skill of the sword, while his knife would break if he hit their weapons or armor. Due to an adrenaline race (epinephrine), Kirito started seeing things in slow motion, observing the situation throughout the battlefield. Alice and Leafa were forced to the same positions as the triangle, with the skill of sword from left and right. Just as Kirito deliberated how everyone could avoid certain death, Agah suddenly gave an acute cry, which overlapped a boy's urlo. Platysaur had apparently bite one of his attackers. At that moment, both Bolan and Mocri they hesitated. The tips of their weapons trembled and their light launched. At that moment, Kirito kicked off the ground. He didn't think they wouldn't expect this, but since he was naked, he thought they would remain behind 0, x seconds. This would not be very meaning in PVE, but in PVP ... emoc emoc

while the dagger strike went just below the back, making a very superficial cut that took 2% of Kirito's HP. At the landing (after 2 rollers), Kirito crashed towards one of the enemies of Leafa, since Leafa was apparently closer to him of Alice of about 2 meters. So, Kirito stabbed his knife in the defenseless back of the guy. At that point, the Kito knife broke (due to previous use on the registers). But while the enemy moved away, Leafa uses the possibility of escaping, and was about to head to the help of Alice with Kirito. But apparently, there was no need. Since, at that point, they saw Asuna stabbed the knife of her in one of Alice's opponents' sides ... rather deeply. Only 3 seconds ago, Asuna was still leaning against the furnace. So, she had to take only 1 second to understand what is going on, 1 second to start splashing, and 1 to reach an enemy 10 meters away. The price for the ASUNA record breaking reaction speed was his knife that broke due to the violent impact. Using this possibility, Alice escaped, calling others to follow her. The gangainst the furnace.

Platysaur had suffered a lot of wounds protecting Asuna. Her green stairs were torn here and there, and she was also full of injuries. Yet he was still full of resolution (especially when Asuna rubbed the neck). Someone's inventory was still literally filled with rocks. At that point, one of Bolan's guys noticed the light of the trade window and warned the others. This prompted Bolan to order a charge to stop them. Kirito didn't have the time to manipulate his storage and clean it up. So instead, he opened up his Stonemasonry skill and selected A«AStone Furnace for Iron ProductionA» from the producible item list. At that moment, a large, light-purple mass appeared three metres ahead of him.
Kirito immediately moved his fingers apart to cause the transparent furnace to move away. Right towards Bolan's guys. Kirito figured that they wouldn't have had any experience in construction in this world, since they had no need to produce their own gear when they just imported their stuff from ALO. He was hoping that this would catch the guys. by surprise. And so it did. The guys started jumping to the side to avoid the ghost furnace. Kirito continued playing around with it for awhile, moving the furnace back and forth, thus prompting Bolan's guys to ignore the ghost furnace, as it wouldn't do anything to them. The guys began dashing towards Kirito's gang again. o, Kirito once again moved the furnace with his hand, placing it midway between him and Bolan's guys. None of the guys were planning to dodge it this time. Instead, they only increased their speed, going straight towards the ghost. So... just before they could touch the ghost furnace, Kirito squeezed his hand... causing the furnace to appear in material form... A split second later, the guys crashed right into the furnace, and fell to the ground on their backs. Kirito was interested in how much damage they suffered from the collision, but decided to instead use this vital time to go through with the trade Since Kirito used up the majority of Rock for the furnace, now he could accept Yui's commercial offer. He received 5 articles:  «Â« Armour of the high degree iron (kote) ã ¢ â »and ã ¢ ã occasion â» and ã ¢ ã  «long high degree iron sword». Kirito asked how Yui could get all that stuff (it seems not to connect the points, apparently) for a moment, but pushed aside that thought to equip ment with the same speed with which he used his menu during the Battle of Gloam Eyes. The design for the armor was not so elaborate, but the glow of the blue steel armor clearly indicated that "high degree" in the name was not only for the show. Even if Kirito did not really like the metal armor that committed him to move, hours of walking naked made him appreciate. Keeping you on her sheath with her left hand of her, Kirito put her right hand on Yui's head, thanking her and saying that he would take care of her After exchanging looks with the other girls, Kirito loaded towards the enemy. After bringing out his sword from his scabbard, he lifted her over her shoulder, activating "Sonic Leapã ¢ â». At that moment, the five boys had finally got up. Kirito targeted the close boy, an lover of the ax, who noticed him and was about to shout something. However, ligh green flashing, his sword cut himself through the boy's left shoulder. The boy was swept away and crashed to the ground with a powerful force, losing over 80% of his HP in that one attack. Just like Kirito it was immobilized by the post -moving rigidity period, Mocri accused without hesitation. His dagger was bright yellow - he was using the charge of dagger SS, A «Quick bite». While the boy kick off the ground, Kirito was released his rigiditate. But he did not have time to contrast with his swill or dodge. ylno aciliS ,remmah ,remmah the spearman, thanking him. The guy looked very dubiously at Kirito, before giving a momentary handshake... and immediately pulling his hand back. Just as Kirito decided to take that as establishing a cordial relationship with the NPC, he noticed that something was shining on his leather armour chest piece. Fang-shaped... glass, held by thin leather strings. Surprised, Kirito immediately asked how they got the glass, pointing at their necklaces. The spearman looked at his chest... and with a proud smile lifted the leather strings. With Yui acting as a translator, Kirito found out that there was some quartz sand, the main ingredient for producing glass, at the plateau beyond the river, while the secondary ingredient - plant and wood ash - could be obtained by burning the plants and trees there. And actually, upon investigating Alice's bonfire, they found some gray lumps of ash there. The furnaces they already had could be repurposed for processing the materials. So, Kirito's second furnace just got a purpose. Additionally, they learnt where to find flax fields to get some flaxseed oil. So, they now knew where to find the rest of the ingredients for house repairs. As thanks, Asuna shared their bear meat was a top class delicacy for them, so they were naturally overjoyed at the offer.
Once they had their fill, the NPCs headed back to their settlement. Having seen them off, the entire gang heaved a long sigh. The time was now past 1 AM. 3 hours till the log house collapsed. Lisbeth was happy that they were able to regroup before the house broke down, and she offered to take care of the iron plates and nails while the others gathered the rest of the materials. At that point, Kirito reminded them that they would probably lack some iron ingots, since Lisbeth spent some of the armor, Silica gave a big smile while indicating all the drops of the bag collected in the center of the empty field. He proposed to dissolve some of the PK group to get the missing iron. Kirito was surprised by the unusually rational idea. So much so that he exchanged looks with Asuna and the other girls. Chapter 9 The chapter begins in the SAO Survivor School in the real world from the perspective of Asuna. 28 September, Monday 12:45. About five minutes until his fourth period and Asuna is fighting against his drowsiness. The first period of the school begins at 9:00, which is not all so pleasant when you haven't slept enough last night. The text then describes the complicated path of Asuna to go to school. At first, Asuna brushed Kirito's idea of going to school on the motorcycle, but lately he's given the idea a more serious thought. Asuna remained until 5:00 that morning and had only an hour of sleep. She was so asleep that she almost lost her first stop on the train, so she put on her Augma to make Yui keep her awake. He also had a kazuto-ish thought of having Yui piloted his body at school. Although he had to fight his drowsiness during the lessons, he did not regret his decision to remain late, as they managed to finish their home repairs. Their avatars were now lying in the living room of the repaired house. Apparently, people cannot enter another player's home without invitation (they tested it with Lisbeth before forming a party with her, it seems) even in UR. But the house and get some monsters more forming a party with her, it seems) even in UR. But the house was not indestructible. So, Agah and Yui were keeping an eye on the house and get some monsters more forming a party with her, it seems) even in UR. Wait wait wait, Kazuto thought, As the guy assumed a half-rising posture, the girl put on her hood and drew three lines on her cheeks with her fingertips. "Ah... Aaaaaaaaah!?", Kazuto gaye a hysteric shout the moment he finally realised who the person was. This attracted attention from the other students, but Kazuto ignored them, as he said, "A...Argo...!? Why...... How......!?", Kazuto refrained from adding "So you're alive!" at the end, opening and closing his mouth repeatedly. Argo the Rat, the skillful info broker from SAO, gave him a smile as she said, "Long time no seE, Kii-bou." (To be continued) Personal Highlights Chapter 4: "AÂÂ ÂMore
