Users in China found the Pittsburgh-based app was unavailable for download last August amid a country-wide education crackdown that also included a ban on for-profit afterschool tuition. At the time, Duolingo told local media that the company had ¢ÃÂÂreceived instructions to strengthen the app¢ÃÂÂs content compliance mechanism.¢Ã The app entered China in 2019. China has been closing regulatory loopholes in all kinds of apps in recent years. Data-heavy services, from video games to livestreaming platforms, need to enforce strict content moderation to maintain a ¢ÃÂÂhealthy¢Ã digital environment. While core services from US titans such as Twitter, Facebook, Instagram and Google have long been unavailable in China, some other foreign tech companies have voluntarily shut down or reformatted their products in the country as Beijing introduces new tougher data laws. resulting in rising compliance costs. TechCrunch¢ÃÂÂs parent company Yahoo pulled its services entirely from China last November. LinkedIn has introduced the Chinese version of its professional networking platform with limited features. Source Joseph Henry, Tech Times 06 August 2021, 06:08 am (Photo: Duolingo via screenshot) Duolingo is no longer available in selected app stores in China. The announcement came on Thursday, Aug. 5, after the company was informed of the news about its application. Why is Duolingo language learning app is no longer available in some Chinese app stores. According to a recent report by Reutersà on Friday, Aug. 6, the decision about the Duolingo app removal took place after the Chinese government prevented some educational practices from operating. The rules have targeted those on-profit companies: the tutoring firms. Since China launched the crackdown on the private tutoring industry, the country has suffered huge losses in the said field. The Duolingo language learning app was removed in selected Android platforms in China, specifically those that are managed by Tencent and Huawei. However, for those who have Apple App Stores, you could still download it. "We are working to address the issue and are hopeful that the app will be reinstated in the near term. In the meanwhile, existing educational industry investing in private tutoring could have a huge impact on the citizens. South China Morning Postà reported that it might develop a "black market" that would present expensive offers. One resident from said that she would hire private tutors secretly despite the imposed rules of the government. This leaves her with no choice to do other things than one-on-one home tutoring. As a matter of fact, the "black market" implications of the private tutoring crackdown have been gradually appearing. In Huangshan city, a middle school educator was found out to be doing an underground tutoring service to some students. In the majority, its profit came from its subscription service. In 2019, Duolingo's revenue was $70.8 million. A year later, it surged to a 129% increase, which accounted for $161.7 million growth. For Q1 2021, the EdTech giant amassed a revenue worth $55.4 million. It was believed that the coronavirus pandemic contributed a lot to its massive profit growth. In 2015, Duolingo had successfully launched $45-million funding. During that time, its app was the most downloaded educational app in both Apple and Google's app stores. Before this funding, the company had raised $3.3 million in 2011. It was also involved in the New Enterprise Associates (NEA) funding amounting to $15 million in 2011 funding worth $20 million in 2012 followed by the 2014 funding worth $20 million in 2011. for Math? With its friendly approach and awesome updates, Duolingo¢ÄÄÄs long been one of our favorite apps for learning another language. Its secret: making the process genuinely fun. Engaging mini-games test your reading, writing, and speaking skills, and joining a club (where you can encourage and compete with others) adds a great social element. Bonus: all those languages and games are available for free! This app is truly fun and is a great supplement to a French language immersion class I am taking. I do have a hint and some suggestions. Hint to those newly downloading: take advantage of the 1-MONTH trial because if you don¢ÃÂÂt, you¢ÃÂÂl only see the 2-week trial for Plus after that initial period. Don¢ÃÂÂt delay! truly enjoy the variety, not only lessons but the stories and the listening and there¢ÃÂÂs even a Podcast! Truly enjoy the variety in the stories and the listening and there explain the listening and Suggestions to enhance learning/app, while it¢ÂÂÂs great that there are flags and learns and those come back up in practice sessions, I wish there was a bookmark feature for specific tips or one that would allow you to flag even specific test. I take screenshots but would rather it be available all in one place in the app. And the other big suggestion is, there are times when I select word, and he doesn't say it. It happens from a quy in which he places 2 words and places both within a prayer (i.e., aime-d. Listen to the word. Perhaps these features are unlocked in Plus, but if they do not underline a word after it is accepted and pressed to continue, why can't I hear the prayer again after the notice of continuing is available? These are some reasons why I only gave this 4-star app. I didn't want to put five for a few things, so let me tell you. This app is so surprising that I would download it if it were you, but I am trying to learn French by friends ... but it does not really teach me the French language. All you want me to do is choose the right French word or something else. Don't fuck up to remember all the words. So I give this app an application to this app 4. I don't hate this app because they're trying to help people learn new languages! It's really a great app, but also, you want me to pay a lot for a month, I'm pretty sure I won't get ads and level faster. Almost all applications have a monthly subscription witch is a bit unfair. People are losing work during this time of Covid-19, so they will not be able to pay as much for a month or as much as it costs. I'd say he'd want to level quickly? It wouldn't be fun because it goes fast and you really learn anything and, it's a bit deceptive as I think. There are no advertisements... well, that's a little "ok," but I don't know... ads are a little cool, though they're about Duolingo's subscriptions. However, the ads are really short, so I give this a 4, I guess, but it's really a good app and I think you should download it if you want!
